

Jonathan Rajewski

Digital Forensic Examiner & Professor

Jonathan Rajewski

Quick Facts

1. Rajewski is pronounced "ra-jew-ski"
2. He is a Assistant Professor of Digital Forensics at Champlain College
3. He is the Director of the Senator Patrick Leahy Center for Digital Investigation
4. He is a Digital Forensic Examiner with the Vermont Internet Crimes Against Children Task Force
5. Jon was awarded the 2011 Digital Forensic Examiner of the Year Award
6. Jon is one of the top 300 professors in the United States (the only digital forensic professor recognized)
7. He was awarded an Honorable Mention at the National Center for Missing and Exploited Children Law Enforcement Awards
8. He was the primary author of the current digital forensic undergraduate degree program at Champlain College
9. He has spoken at digital forensic conferences around the world
10. Jonathan has served many high profile confidential clients and has worked alongside many governmental and corporate teams.
11. Jonathan secured a $500,000 grant to support Vermont Law Enforcement's digital forensic needs

Short Bio: Jonathan (MS, EnCe, CCE, CISSP, CFE, CSI, SANS Lethal Forensicator) is an Assistant Professor in the Computer & Digital Forensic program at Champlain College. Aside from his teaching responsibilities he is member of the Vermont Internet Crimes Task Force serving law enforcement and governmental entities. He is also a Director and Principle Investigator with the Senator Patrick Leahy Center for Digital Investigation. He won the 2011 Digital Forensic Examiner of the Year award from Forensic4Cast.com and in 2012 was recognized as one of the Nations top 300 Professors by the Princeton Review.

Full Bio: Jonathan Rajewski started his digital forensic career working with a digital forensic consulting firm and has transitioned to academia and also serves Vermont's law enforcement digital forensic needs.

Jonathan (EnCe, CCE, CISSP, CFE, CSI, SANS Lethal Forensicator) is an Assistant Professor in the Computer & Digital Forensic program at Champlain College. Aside from his teaching responsibilities he is member of the Vermont Internet Crimes Task Force serving law enforcement and governmental entities. He is also a Director and Principle Investigator with the Champlain College Center for Digital Investigation. In his prior life he was a Global Senior Digital Forensic Consultant with Protiviti.

His high degree of professionalism, passion and experience in the detection and prevention of white-collar crime complements his ability to teach, manage and conduct digital forensic investigations. Jonathan has a keen ability to articulate very technical topics and present in such way that's understandable to either experienced or nontechnical audiences. Jonathan is also the author of the 2011->future Undergraduate Digital Forensic curriculum at Champlain College.

Jonathan has served many high profile confidential clients and has worked alongside many governmental and corporate teams. Jonathan holds a B.S in Economic Crime Investigation from Hilbert College and a M.S in Managing Innovation & Information Technology from Champlain College. Jonathan resides in Vermont with his family.